The maximum State aid intensity set out in the table above may be increased for certain identified counties in order to benefit from support from the Fair Transition Fund, should the European Commission issue a Decision to that effect. The Ministry of Finance shall publish this information on its website in the State Aid section after obtaining the Authorization Decision from the Community Forum.

ATTENTION!

Given that:

- The State aid scheme established by G.D. no. 807/2014 must be complementary to state aid schemes financed by the European funds,
- State aid schemes financed by European funds exclude large enterprises, through the State Aid Scheme established by G.D. no. 807/2014, no bonuses are granted that supplement the maximum intensity of state aid in the case of SMEs.

DEFINITIONS

State aid intensity = the ratio of the amount of aid to the amount of eligible costs.

Intensity (%) = (maximum amount of state aid / total amount of eligible expenditure) x100

Large investment project = an initial investment with eligible costs exceeding 50 million euros, value calculated at the exchange rate established by the National Bank of Romania valid on the date of elaboration of the financing agreement.

In the case of large investment projects, the aid may not exceed the maximum amount foreseen for each development region and shall be calculated according to the formula:

Maximum aid amount = $R \times (A + 0.50 \times B + 0 \times C)$, where

R = the maximum aid intensity applicable in the region concerned;

A = the eligible initial costs of EUR 50 million;

B = the part of the eligible costs between EUR 50 million and EUR 100 million;

C = the part of the eligible costs of over 100 million euros.

DEFINITIONS:

Single investment project - any initial investment started by the same beneficiary, at group level, within three years of the start of work on another investment receiving aid in the same level 3 region of the Common Nomenclature of Territorial Units of statistics (NUTS 3), respectively county.
Group = the parent company and all its subsidiaries.

ATTENTION!

If a single investment project becomes a large investment project, the State aid requested by the company shall be calculated using the above formula.

The value in lei of the eligible expenses related to the single project consists of the value in lei of the eligible expenses approved or actually settled with state aid, as the case may be, related to previous projects and the value in lei of the eligible expenses related to the project for which funding is requested.

In order to apply the formula, the amount of cumulative eligible expenditure must be calculated in euros. In this sense, the average exchange rate, established by the National Bank of Romania, of the month prior to the date of submission of the Application for financing agreement will be used. The amount of State aid for the project for which funding is requested shall be calculated as the difference between the maximum amount of State aid for the single project and the amount of State aid approved or actually paid, as appropriate.

Example:

For an enterprise that makes an investment of 13.5 million lei, respectively the equivalent of approximately 3 million euros, and the value of eligible costs is 9 million lei, respectively the equivalent of approximately 2 million euros, in Iasi, a locality located on the regional map in the region North-East, Iasi County, county with a maximum intensity of 50%, the state aid is determined as follows:

Total value of eligible costs x Maximum intensity = 9 million lei x 50% = 4.5 million lei

For an enterprise that makes an investment of 315 million lei, respectively the equivalent of about 70 million euros, and the value of eligible costs is 270 million lei, respectively the equivalent of about 60 million euros, in Iasi, a locality located on the regional map in the North-East, Iasi county, county with a maximum intensity of 50%, the state aid is determined as follows:

Maximum aid amount = $0.5 \times (225,000,000 \text{ lei} + 0.50 \times 45,000,000 \text{ lei}) = 0.5 \times 247,500,000 \text{ lei} = 123,750,000 \text{ lei}$

ATTENTION!

The State aid paid may not exceed the total amount of regional development contributions related to the investment for which funding is requested.

CHAPTER II - METHOD OF GRANTING STATE AID

DEFINITIONS:

The initial investment is the investment in tangible and intangible assets related to the start-up of a new unit, the expansion of the capacity of an existing unit, the diversification of the production of a unit through products that were not previously manufactured in the unit or a fundamental change in the overall production process of an existing unit, located in the same perimeter, except for the investments made in the sectors of activity included in section F - Constructions, according to the Classification of activities in the national economy - NACE approved by Order of the President of the National Institute of Statistics no. 337/2007 regarding the updating of the Classification of activities in the national economy - NACE.

The initial investment in favour of a new economic activity is the investment in tangible and intangible assets related to starting a new unit or diversifying the activity of a unit, provided that the new activity is not identical or similar to the previous activity in that unit; the investment must be in the same perimeter except for the investments made in the sectors of activity included in section F - Constructions, according to the Classification of activities in the national economy - NACE approved by Order of the President of the National Institute of Statistics no. 337/2007.

The establishment of a new unit represents the creation of a new location for the activity for which the financing is requested, technologically independent from other existing units.

Location = the space where the assets that make up the investment project for which financing is requested are located.

Technologically independent = which does not depend on another technological flow, which operates autonomously.

Expanding the capacity of an existing unit means increasing the production capacity at the existing site due to the existence of unmet demand.

Diversifying the production of an existing unit means obtaining products or services that were not previously made in that unit. Eligible costs must exceed by at least 200% the carrying amount of the re-used assets, as recorded in the financial year preceding the commencement of work.

The diversification of the activity of a unit represents the acquisition of products or services as a result of a new activity that is not identical or similar to the activity previously carried out in that unit (a new four-digit NACE code).

The fundamental change in the general production process consists in the acquisition of assets whose book value exceeds the depreciation, calculated during the three previous financial years, of similar assets related to the activity for which financing is requested. The mere replacement of existing assets is not considered a fundamental change in the overall production process.

ATTENTION!

In the case of an extension of the capacity of an existing establishment, the undertaking must:

- a) to have authorized the activity for which financing is requested in the location where the capacity extension is carried out;

- b) demonstrate that the existing capacity utilization cannot cover the additional demand for products / services (both for the location where the investment is made and for other locations of the company where similar products are made, which address the same geographic market);
- c) there is a demand for products / services on the market that cannot be covered by the offer of competing companies.

In the case of investments made in the sectors of activity included in section F - Constructions, according to the Classification of activities in the national economy - NACE, the enterprise must substantiate the need to expand the capacity for each location in which it makes the investment.

ATTENTION!

In the case of diversifying the production of an existing unit, the company must:

a) to demonstrate that the products/services related to the investment project are not carried out in the current activity of the company which can be carried out on the same NACE code or on a different CAEN code, according to the Order no. 337/2007 of the President of the National Institute of Statistics regarding the updating of the Classification of activities in the national economy of NACE, as follows:

- submit the list of products/services they carry out in their current activity,
- submit the list of products/services that shall be realized through the investment project.

b) to declare the book value of the reused assets related to the new activity, as follows:

- identify each asset to be reused with the name, inventory number of the Fixed Assets Register and the carrying amount as recorded in the financial year preceding the commencement of work,

- identify each new asset to be acquired, with a view to diversifying the business,
- submit the value of each new asset.

The value of new assets related to the investment project must exceed by at least 200% the carrying amount of the reused assets.

ATTENTION!

In case of a fundamental change in the general production process, the company must submit in the business plan the value of the depreciation of the assets related to the activity for which the financing is requested, calculated during the 3 financial years prior to the application for financing. The mere replacement of existing assets is not considered a fundamental change in the overall production process.

ATTENTION!

In the case of large enterprises that make initial investments in favour of a new economic activity, in the Bucharest - Ilfov Development Region, only investments related to starting a new unit or diversifying the activity of a unit are eligible, provided that the new activity is not identical or similar to the previous activity in that unit.

DEFINITIONS:

2.3. Demonstration of the viability of the investment project and the economic efficiency of the enterprise following the realization of the investment project

2.3.1. Analysis of the relevant market in which the company will operate as a result of the realization of the products / provision of the resulting services as a result of the implementation of the investment project

DEFINITIONS:

The relevant market comprises a product or group of products and the geographical area in which they are produced and/or marketed.

The relevant market therefore has two components: the product market and the geographic market.

The relevant product market includes all products that are considered by buyers to be interchangeable or substitutable due to their characteristics, price and use. These products must be sufficiently similar for consumers or beneficiaries to take them into account when making purchasing decisions.

Identifying the relevant product market involves performing an analysis to determine the products that are part of that market, taking into account determining factors such as substitutability, prices, elasticity of demand for the product based on the prices of other products, etc.

The relevant geographic market includes the area where the economic agents involved in the delivery of the products / services included in the product market are located, the area where the conditions of competition are sufficiently homogeneous, and which can be differentiated in neighbouring geographical areas due in particular to substantially different competition.

Factors to be taken into account in defining the relevant geographic market include the type and characteristics of the products involved, the existence of barriers to entry, consumer preferences, differences in market shares of economic operators in neighbouring geographical areas, substantial differences in product prices to suppliers, as well as the share of transport costs in the total costs.

Depending on the factors taken into account, the geographical area in which the competing producers are located is defined. In order to be considered on the same relevant geographic market, it is not necessary for the products to be manufactured in the same or nearby localities. It is important that all these products are accessible to the same buyers, so that each of them is a real economic alternative for the others. For some products or services, the relevant geographic market may be part of a locality, a locality, a county, a region or an area of Romania, for others, the whole country or areas outside the country.

(see:

- COMMUNICATION OF THE COMMISSION on the definition of the relevant market within the meaning of Community competition law (97/C 372/03) and
- ORDER no. 388 of the President of the Competition Council of 5 August 2010 for the implementation of the Instructions on the definition of the relevant market)

ATTENTION!

The analysis of the relevant market must result in an excess of demand which cannot be covered by the existing products/services on the market offered by the competing companies.

Presentation of letters of intent / contracts / pre-contracts, etc. from potential customers does not demonstrate a surplus of demand that can not be covered by the offer of competing companies.

In describing the relevant market, the company must present and justify the market share it currently holds, in the case of operating companies, as well as the market share it will hold as a result of the implementation of the investment project.

2.3.2. Justification of the need to make the investment

The enterprises are required to provide data on:

a) Production capacity

The company has the obligation to present and substantiate by calculation, explaining each of its components:

- existing production capacity and that resulting from the implementation of the investment project in the case of operating enterprises, as well as the degree of its use,
- production capacity resulting from the implementation of the investment project in the case of newly established enterprises, the degree of its use.

DEFINITION:

The production capacity represents the maximum production, of a certain structure and quality that a production unit can achieve in a certain period of time, in the optimal technical-organizational conditions, using as fully as possible the fixed productive means, the most suitable working regime and organization of production and work.

ATTENTION!

Production capacity should not be confused with the planned or achieved production volume.

b) Achievement of the turnover

The company has the obligation to substantiate the turnover by presenting information regarding:

- the types of products/services currently provided by the enterprise, their quantity, price and value,
- the types of products/services to be realized by the enterprise as a result of the realization of the investment project, their quantity, price and value.

ATTENTION!

All the components of the turnover (products, quantity, price, value) shall be substantiated justifying the way in which they were established and will be correlated with the information presented in subchapter 2.3.3.

ATTENTION!

In order to support the information for substantiating the turnover, supporting documents will be presented, such as contracts, pre-contracts, letters of intent from potential customers.

The supporting documents submitted must substantiate a turnover which will be achieved after the submission of the application.

The supporting documents will be accompanied by a summary table in which the following elements will be found: customer name, no. and date letter of intent / contract / pre-contract, product type, quantity, unit price and value, taken from them.

2.3.3. Economic - financial analysis of the investment project
